SAINT HERMAN ORTHODOX CALENDAR

1972

THE ORTHODOX WORD

A Bimonthly Periodical

OF THE BROTHERHOOD OF
SAINT HERMAN OF ALASKA

Established with the blessing of His Eminence the late John (Maximovitch), Archbishop of Western America and San Francisco, Russian Orthodox Church Outside of Russia

PLATINA, CALIFORNIA 96076

1971, Vol. 7, no. 5 (40) September - October

NOTES ON THE CALENDAR

The date according to the Church (Julian) Calendar always precedes that of the civil calendar; whenever only one date appears, it is that of the Julian Calendar. Scriptural references are according to the King James Version.

The Calendar follows the usage of the Russian Church Outside of Russia. Some saints are commemorated on a different day in the Greek calendar.

To the list of saints in the Russian calendar, which incorporates the calendars of other Orthodox lands, have been added some recently-canonized saints of Greece and Rumania as well as those pre-Schism Western saints whose names have been approved by bishops of the Russian Church Outside of Russia. The order of names in the daily list of saints follows in general the Russian calendars, except that those saints in some way directly connected with the American land have been placed first: St. Herman of Alaska (with New-martyrs Juvenal and Peter); Sts. Sergius and Herman, patrons of St. Herman's Valaam Monastery which sent the first missionaries to America; St. Innocent of Irkutsk, patron saint of the American Mission; and St. John of Kronstadt, first saint to be canonized in America. The feast of the Repose of St. Herman (Nov. 15) is a local tradition of Spruce Island Hermitage, Alaska (Archimandrite Gerasim) and the St. Herman of Alaska Hermitage, Platina, California.

At the end of the daily list of saints there occasionally appear commemorations in italics: these are more recent ascetics, bishops, and martyrs not yet canonized, for whom it is appropriate to celebrate requiem services.

Saint Herman Orthodox Calendar

THE TRUE CHRISTIAN is a warrior fighting his way through the regiments of the unseen enemy to his heavenly homeland," taught St. Herman of Alaska. The Orthodox Calendar is the record of the sources from which the Christian warrior must draw to fight this spiritual warfare; and what a source of inspiration it is! On every day there are commemorated the God-pleasing combatants who have preceded us: prophets, apostles, martyrs, hierarchs, ascetics and monks, fools for Christ, so that their name and example will give us courage in battle and fervency in our Orthodox confession and life; for on the day of their commemoration in the Calendar, as the Blessed Metropolitan Philaret of Moscow has said, they draw especially near to the earth and are especially attentive to our prayers. On every day readings from Holy Scripture are appointed as weapons for battle, so that the Orthodox Christian may learn daily to prepare himself with instruction from God's word in accordance with the lessons by which the Church wishes to enlighten and inspire us. Likewise, the regular cycles of feast and fast are presented so that the individual Christian can integrate his life with the whole plan and history of battle which the Church sets before us.

The sacred Calendar of the Orthodox Church is quite distinct from the civil (originally papist) calendar of Western lands, the civil date being thirteen days in advance, and the feasts dependent on the date of Pascha being almost always a week or more apart. In this one may see a special providence of God to us Christians of these last times. In a pagan world which just happens to preserve some of the outward signs of Christianity, it is often difficult for an Orthodox Christian to persuade others — and sometimes even himself — that he is really not the same as those others who use the name of Christ out of habit, while neither correctly believing in Him nor accepting His Church. But God has granted us weak ones the special grace of setting us apart from the world and its now-paganized "Christian" feasts. What Orthodox American, for example, will not rejoice that he can celebrate the feast of Christ's Nativity in befitting quietness and solemnity, long after the vain and raucous spirit of "Santa Claus" has departed? Or that, nonetheless, on the civil holiday of December 25 he is free to attend the services in honor of the first Saint of the American land, St. Herman of Alaska? Or that for him Pascha remains a day apart, not confused with pagan "Easter rabbits"? Or that even the diabolical mockery of "Halloween" is overcome for him by the new feast of the glorious wonderworker of our own century, St. John of Kronstadt?

The late Archbishop John Maximovitch of blessed memory, a shining light of inspiration to the Orthodox Christians of these times, always insisted that children in the church schools under his charge learn to observe the commemorations of the Church Calendar, unfailingly being absent from school on all the great feasts and on the feast of their own patron saint, and spending the day in attendance at the Divine Liturgy and in a manner befitting the feast. While not making the observance of the traditional Calendar an issue of dogma, Archbishop John nonetheless emphasized its importance—apart from the obvious matters of the liturgical inadequacy of the "new" calendar and the uncanonical and anarchical manner in which it has been imposed — both as a matter of faithfulness to the Church's tradition, and as an expression of solidarity with those in Greece, in St. Herman's own monastery of Valaam, and elsewhere in our own century who have suffered and even died for this faithfulness.

The True Orthodox Christians of Greece who in the 1920's fought for the Orthodox Calendar affirmed that the violent imposition of the "new" calendar upon the faithful of Greece was only the first step in a whole program of ecclesiastical renovationism and capitulation to the spirit of this world that lies in evil. History has already proved them correct. It is therefore all the more important that we who are free to do so, without judging those who involuntarily find themselves under the yoke of the "new" calendar, should remain in the tradition handed down to us by the Holy Fathers. In America, in particular, where there is no political pressure to change the Calendar, adherence to the traditional Church Calendar is rapidly becoming one of the distinguishing marks that separate the true from the false Orthodox.

And so, in the name of St. Herman of Alaska, patron of the true Orthodox Christians of this land, we present to the English-speaking Orthodox world for the first time the Church's complete Calendar, for the year 1972. Each month is illustrated by a monastery or other historic holy place of America; for it is they which, even today, keep alive the ideal of the spiritual warfare that St. Herman brought to America and that underlies and gives meaning to the whole Orthodox Calendar. May this Calendar serve for the instruction, enlightenment, and inspiration of the "little flock" of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, to Whom may there be glory always, now and ever and unto the ages of ages. Amen.
